

ABSTRACT

[0030] A fibre-reinforced building article includes a matrix of a binding material, and at least one fibrous layer of alkali-resistant glass fibres incorporated in the matrix. The binding material is based on an aluminous cement, a carboxylic ether polymer based plasticizer and alkali-resistant glass fibres. The fibre-reinforced building article has fire protection properties.